

ROLE OF AYURVEDA IN HEALTH FOR ALL

*N.S.Bhatt

The present situation of the health care delivery not only in India, but the world over is facing several questions. Alternative therapies of all types are being offered both in a systematic as well as unorganized way.

In this paper basic issues in relation to health care delivery are raised. It is necessary that the health care delivery systems have holistic approach with greater emphasis on preventive and promotive aspects. Ayurved, based on a systematic knowledge is in a position to fulfill the present day requirements. It has been stressed that this systematized knowledge of total health has much to offer for health care of people at different levels.
